

Who We Are.

Econo-Courier began in 1972 as a man with one van and a great idea—to provide fast, reliable same-day courier service to businesses in the New York metropolitan area. Founder Stephen Lippe added vans, cars, drivers and services as his client base expanded, their packages grew larger and their needs diversified. Today, Econo-Courier is a leading expedited trucking and courier provider for businesses that need to get documents, products and merchandise anywhere, anytime—without the expense of maintaining their own in-house drivers and vehicles.

In addition to millions of packages and envelopes, Econo-Courier has delivered a very interesting array of cargo including a submarine propeller, an inaugural gown and transplant organs. We've picked up from clients' offices and distribution centers, from our own 35,000-square-foot warehouse, from department stores and factories and more. We've delivered to construction sites, hospitals and medical centers, law firms, shipyards, manufacturing plants, homes and hotels . . . the list goes on. We've taken packages in our trucks to planes that we've chartered or to other shipping centers to get the job done. It's safe to say, we go to any length to deliver and to satisfy.

Econo-Courier is now run by Stephen's son, Peter Lippe, who has continued to bring innovation to the company, cost efficiencies, and great service to our clients.

What We Offer

Same Day Service

We built our business and our reputation by always providing reliable, economical same-day delivery of small packages, envelopes, and assorted other items.

We implement the latest technologies such as GPS tracking and wireless services to ensure your courier deliveries are on time and that we always know where your package is. Our dispatch and expediting services are among the best in the industry and our drivers use our mobile app that saves you money thanks to more efficient routing.

We offer same-day rush and direct deliveries within a 250-mile radius of our clients' locations.

Less-Than-Truckload (LTL)

For deliveries that are less than what will fill a tractor trailer, you need less-than-truckload (LTL) service. Econo-Courier provides this expedited trucking service with our own fleet of trucks and vans, for cartons and pallets throughout the tri-state area.

We can arrange pickup and delivery anywhere and save you time and money over what common carriers would charge you. If you require expedited service, Econo-Courier will pick up your goods and bring it to a shipper, depending on your timing and your budget.

Warehousing Services

Our nimble boutique-style service handles everything from inventory management to light assembly before shipping, creating your own full-service shipping and distribution facility on our premises.

Simply put, our warehousing services and customizable capabilities offer unprecedented convenience and flexibility for small-business owners that large commercial warehouses are not set up or willing to do.

Man-In-A-VanSM

With MIVSM, Econo-Courier manages your delivery needs professionally, at an overall cost savings through this fixed-cost contracted service. We provide drivers who are familiar with your operation and perform as your employees . . . without the headaches.

Our staff is trained on your company's protocols and your delivery runs, which are handled with the driver's car, van or truck. You arrange to have the driver come to your place of business daily or according to a specified schedule to handle your deliveries.
